Captain Grant's

Captain Grant's, built in 1754, is listed on the National Register of Historic Places. It sits on four acres, housed soldiers during the Revolutionary War and was a haven for escaped slaves during the Civil War. Located in the historic village of Poquetanuck within the town of Preston, the house was built by Captain William Avery Gonzales Grant and is one of the oldest preserved buildings of its kind. At age 32, Captain Grant died at sea off the shore of Cape Hatteras, leaving wife Mercy Adelaide and three children. Mercy lived in the house until her death. Legend says Mercy's ghost, longing for her husband & awaiting his return, wanders the house after dark trying to find him. Guests hear her disembodied voice, her footsteps in the attic and her soft taps on their doors.

Hotel Callista

Formerly The John Fox Slater House, Hotel Callista was built about 1827 in Norwich on the corner of Main & Park. The building originally was owned by textile magnant John Fox Slater (nephew of Samuel "Father of the American Industrial Revolution" Slater). John established the Norwich Free Academy to which his son William presented the Slater Memorial Museum. John's The Slater Fund for the Education of Freedmen supported Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute & several other historically Black institutions of learning. Amit Patel of Ganesha Hospitality LLC purchased and renovated the historic mansion and operates it as a boutique hotel.

House of 1833

Designed by attorney Elias Brown, a Brown University graduate and the first president of Mystic Bank, the House of 1833 is a national landmark on 3 wooded and elegantly landscaped acres. Secluded on a leafy street near the historic Mystic Maritime Museum, House of 1833 is a grand example of early-nineteenth-century Greek Revival architecture. Elias and his wife Mary Louisa raised their nine children in House of 1833 then retired to Brooklyn, NY. When the Smith family bought the property they used it as a high-end bespoke dress shop, attracting many well-heeled clients, including First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy. In 1993 the Nolan family remodeled the House of 1833 for use as a bed-and-breakfast. The B&B is now owned and run by Evan Nickles and Robert Bankel who is a descendant of Elias Brown.

Eileen of Mystic

Eileen of Mystic is an artist-run bed and breakfast in the New England seaport of Mystic. It began as a farmhouse in the 1700s then served as a respite for travelers, a ship captain's dry ground and eventually a community center. The restoration of Eileen of Mystic that was completed its new owners, New York artists Josh and Erin Cave, highlights the properties historical qualities while providing each room with modern and international touches.
